

Well guys....the time has finally come to admit it.....:

I, like many of you, suffer from a small oil filter. ☹️ I always tried to avoid thinking about it, but the problem just wouldn't go away. Guys at the track would make fun of my small filter. My girlfriend wasn't satisfied with the small filter. I did my best to perform with what I had been given, but it just wasn't working. Here is a pic of my small filter:

What was a man to do? Well, luckily my local VW dealer was running a special, and I was able to locate and upgrade my filter to this bad boy:

Now we're talking. Increased capacity. Stronger case. Longer lasting. Man, I felt good about my filter. 😊 However, this didn't last long. After taking a sneak peak at a few of my friends filters, I realized that I was just "average". And I realized from a few radio and late-night TV ads, that my girlfriend would not be happy with just average 😞 I was in a bind.....what to do....what to do.....

I spent many late nights doing research on the web. I was looking for an all-natural solution. Something BIG. Something that would make me feel like a Man's Man.... Something strong and long.....large capacity....something never to be ashamed of again, damnit! And you would never believe where I found it.....that's right ladies and gentlemen.....at NAPA.....

I officially present to you, my new Big Kahuna:

This bad boy increases your capacity to 5.3qts of fluid, which will keep you and your engine cool under fire. Never again will you have to deal with premature oil changes. Never again will you be made fun of. Never again will random passerbys point and laugh. You, my friends, will be oil filter studs. Rock on.

BAHAHAHAHAHAHAHA

that was one of the most well composed humorous, yet informative, posts I've ever seen. Good info and HILARIOUS presentation.

Good stuff!
